Dear Friends of Children and Families:

As Commissioner of the Office for Children, I am pleased to offer this second edition of the Behavioral Management Training Services Directory to the citizens of the Commonwealth. This expanded edition includes additional listings of behavioral management training professionals who have become aware of our first project, and have indicated interest in being added to our new release. We are glad to acknowledge their valuable service contributions in this way. I am hopeful that this second edition will be useful to parents as well as family and children service providers. During the fall of this fiscal year, telephone requests for this resource have yielded the distribution of 2,000 copies.

This Behavioral Management Resource Directory was designed as a quick service reference for the prospective customer. In each of the listings, the agency or the service provider is identified together with an address and telephone number. The reader will note that some of the listings also include other pertinent information such as the type of insurance accepted by the provider or whether services are also provided in another language. The reader must contact the provider for specific information such as intake criteria, cost and billing procedures, as well as current availability of service.

I hope that this second edition of "Behavioral Management Training Services in Massachusetts" is useful to both parents and professionals who work with children and families. The Office for Children is committed to supporting families by giving them the necessary tools to maintain their independence and strength.

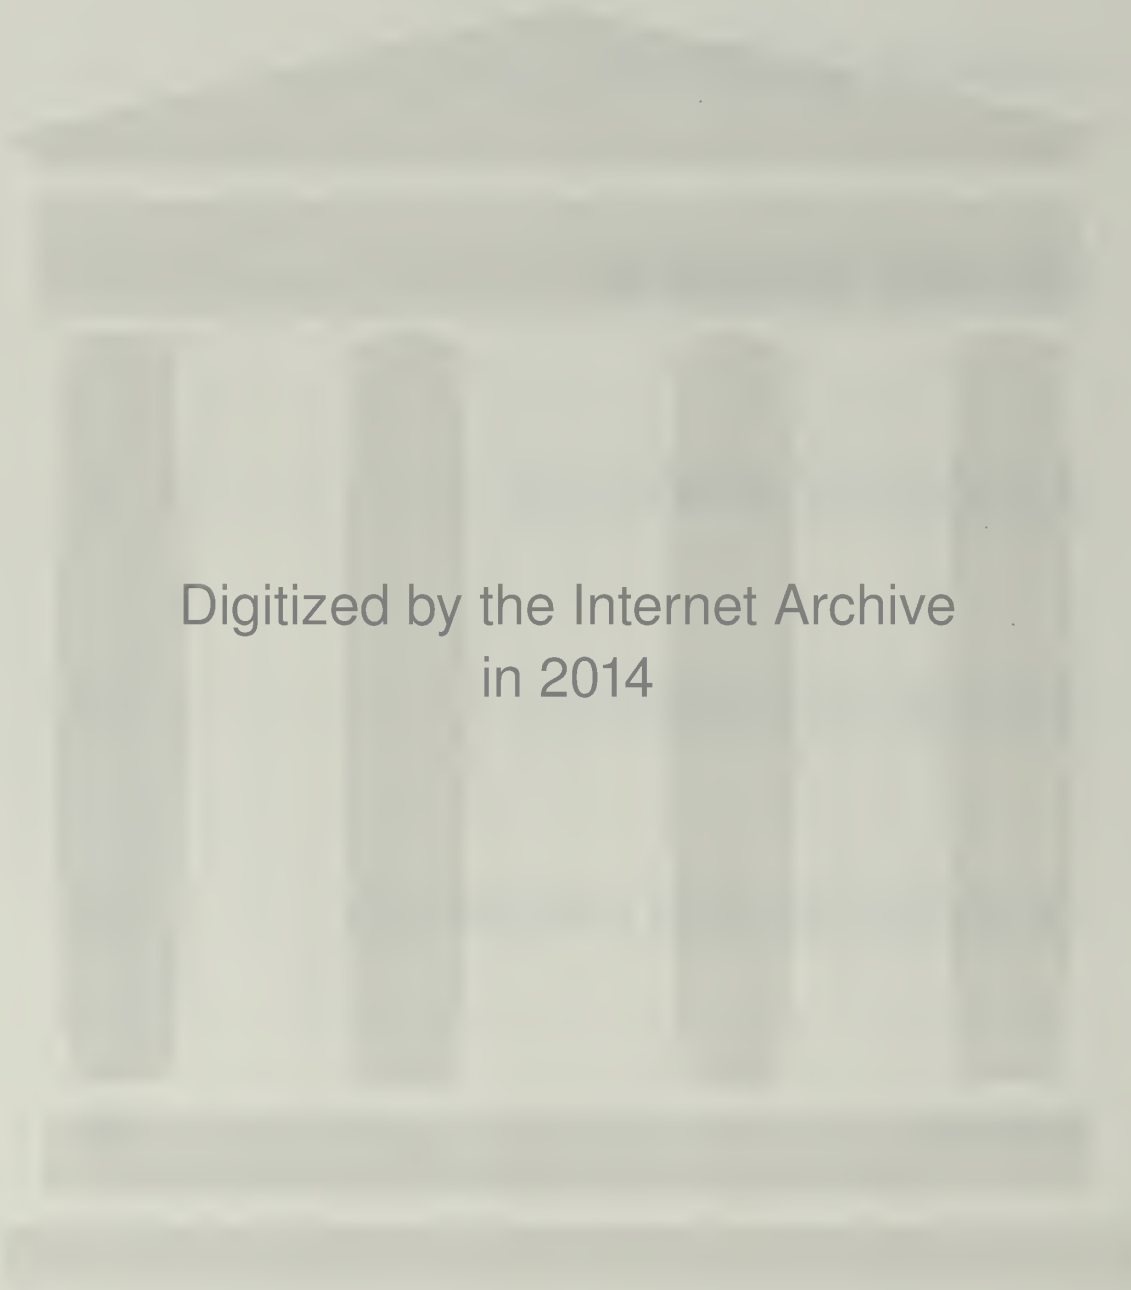

Sincerely,

Virginia Melendez
Commissioner
